up in the building last night at closing time.

A patrolinan making his regular rounds discovered the rear door of the saloon standing ajar. He passed through the building and, seeing that the front door was locked, went out, leaving a note to the proprietor informing him that the back door was found open.

When the place was opened this morning the bag containing $50, which had been lett in the usual place, was found to be missing. It is the theory of the officers that when closing three came the thief secreted himself in some place in the saloon. After everything was quiet he left his hiding place, grabbed the bag of, money and made his getaway through the rear door, which he opened by turning the spring lock.

The daring crock overlooked several hundred dollars in small change, which was in a change rack in easy reach.

The American smelter is now inclosed with a high eight-foot fence. The fence incloses the entire holdings of the company here, including the Germania property. On account of the rapid growth of the slag dump it has been necessary for the smelter to close up one of the principal streets, the siag having encroached upon the highway to such an extent that traffic was impossible. The street in question has been purchased from the city at a fancy price.

Seventeen pupils are enrolled in the night school class at the Arlington school here. The first attempt of the Murray school board at conducting a night school class seemingly is meeting with success. With the assistance of Superintendent G. M. Mumford, Professor Horne of the L. D. LONDON TIMES PRINTS STORY THAT COOK WANTED HELP WITH RECORDS

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The Times prints this morning sworn affidavits signed by August W. Loose, a pilot and navigator, and George H. Dunkle, an insurance broker, that Dr. Cook promised them $4000 for their nid in preparing the polar records of his journey, which are now in the hands of the University of Copenhagen.

The Times also reproduces what purports to be the facsimile of a penciled of Copenhagen.

The Times also reproduces what purports to be the facsimile of a penciled memorandum, directing the preparation of observations all the way from Svartevage to the pole.

They freely acknowledge that their motive is making these affidavits is the alleged failure to pay them the full sum said to have been promised.
The Times further adds that it is impossible as yet to say that the observations calculated by Captain Loose, and which alleges he supplied to Dr. Cook, are those actually delivered by his secretary. Mr. Lonsdale, to the University of Copenhagen.

To establish this point it would be necessary to compare Captain Loose's narrative with the report received by the University of Copenhagen.

There is no more excuse for any man or woman suffering from nervous exhaustion, run-down connervous exhaustion, run-down condition, weak nerves, lack of ambition or energy. A wonderfully simple device, called Electropodes, is now designed to supply all the strength necessary to render the nerves strong and vigotous without having to resort to temporary stimulants, tonics or medicines of any kind.

Electropodes are not an experiment: that they produce results which can be quickly fell and even seen in an improved condition of the general system is the emphatic statement of those who have used them.

the general system is the emphatic statement of those who have used them.

Electropodes represent a distinct advance in the application of electricity for the cure of diseases. They are reported to have a remarkable effect not only upon the nerves, but also upon the kidneys, stomach and liver, being an exceptional remedy for kidney troubles, stomach and liver derangements, neuralgia, rheumatism, backache, lumbago, insomnía and weak heart.

Electropodes are metallic insoles as to be unnoticeable to the wearer. By contact with the body it is stated they electrify and invigorate every fibre, organ, nerve, and blood vessel and the condition of the system quickly changes for the better.
